

I'm a middle age woman juggling time between two great kids and wonderful husband, volunteering with schools and community groups. Like most of us, I have little time to waste and decide how to balance these demands after careful consideration of the resources needed and the desired result. I wish Mr. Bush would pay as much attention to detail as any of us put into a simple day.

This is what his agenda looks like to me. His administration 1)did nothing to prevent 911; 2)proclaimed they would track down and eliminate O.BinLaden AFTER 911; 3)couldn't find BinLaden so went for an easier target (Hussein); bomb the country that had nothing to do with 911 or W of MD, oh, and by the way, kill thousands of people; 4) capture S.H.and then pay for his hernia operation while we 5)continue killing American soldiers and Iraqi citizens. And he wonders why he won't get other world leaders or American public support?

PLEASE do not let the election be stolen. The only votes that seemed to count four years ago were the Supreme Courts'. The American people won't stand for that again and it is in our Representative's and Senator's hands if this election is any way shady.

We are counting on you to make sure our votes are counted.

Sincerely, Mary McClelland
